Boost Our Advertising

Everyone knows that this Annual would not have been a success if the business men whose ad's appear in this Annual had not helped us. Then why should we not help them in return? Not exactly as a class but as a school. They have shown their willingness to help school functions along by advertising in this Annual and it is no more than right that we should patronize the men who patronize us. Look through the ads in this Annual and get a line on who the business men are who helped us in this Annual. Then show them you are the right kind of sport by patronizing them.

We Thank You

We, the staff of this Senior number of the Magician, wish to thank the different classes and all the individuals who have helped to make this Annual a success. We realize that it would not have been such if everyone had not co-operated as they did. We hope that you will enjoy this Annual and that you may keep it as a remembrance of the Class of June, '23.

Appreciation of Magician Staff

The school wishes to thank the members of the Magician staff for their good work in the publishing of the high school paper. Especially do we want to commend the Editor for the way he handled the paper. It takes a lot of school spirit and patience to work your head off and then get the blame for every little fault in the paper. We will say that George handled the paper like a veteran.

We also want to thank the Business Manager for his devotion to the paper and the way he handled the business matters. On the whole the entire staff is to be commended for its good work and we hope that the work will be handled as well by next year's staff.

CLASS HISTORY

Listen, my schoolmates, and you shall hear,
Not of the ride of Paul Revere,
But the history of the graduating class of June, 1923

You have read many histories and you have heard of many histories, but none are half as interesting as the history of the graduating class of June, '23, of Barberton Central High School, Barberton, Ohio, U. S. A. This history will live for ages and will be read for generations to come (or ought to be). No one will ever forget the honors, the joys, the happiness we have given to this High School.

When you are old and burdened with care, your hands workworn and calloused, your hair thin and gray, your face full of wrinkles, and from care and worry you are free for a while, and you sit in your husband's or wife's old armchair, on the wings of an eagle you will soar back to your childhood's home once more. Your eyes will fill with tears, your voice will quiver, your heart flutter, and your body tremble, as you read of the joys our class gave you. If you are a member of this class it will be still more vivid with golden memories as you read.

All aboard! List to the tale:

Barberton High School has received many honors in the past and will receive many in the future, but past, present and future honors can never compare with the honor we gave her when four short years ago we became members of her student body.

Four long years ago (short, it seems to us) a hundred and fifty persons, as mixed as Heinz' 57 Varieties, from all over Barberton, awaited with eager anticipation for the morrow when they should enter High School. Only those with a similar experience can ever know how big our hearts and heads had swelled. We felt that we were very much grown-up.

But oh! such a tumble! The fall of Humpty Dumpty was nothing compared to this fall of ours. The swelling in our heads went down and we were so little that we could thrust ourselves through the eye of a needle, when on the next morning we entered High School.

We went through the halls like dogs who had lost their masters. We asked the Seniors where the Freshmen went and they answered, "The same place as all greenhorns go".

How little we felt when the bell rang for chapel the first time and all we Freshies carried our books with us. What for I don't know, unless for moral support. To make it worse every one in chapel that morning hooted, whistled, yelled "Freshies" at us and laughed at us.

When it was time to sing we opened our mouths and let out a little squeak, afraid something might jump down our throats.

But as the days flew swiftly by we began to find ourselves and lose our fear of the "Mighty Seniors", (they aren't so bad after all, you know) and began to feel more at home. Our teachers were very kind and considerate of we poor Freshies and we began to get along very well.

Then Mr. Copper told us to organize. Oh! What did that mean? But we all found out. We elected George Snodgrass president, Edith Reed secretary and Lucille Galehouse treasurer.

About the end of our Freshman B term there came from the beautiful and wonderful land of Canada one of their native sons, Reuben Sabetay, to join us.

In our Freshman A term our friend and schoolmate, Thelma Mayer, also came from a distant school to be one of us. This term we elected Lucile Galehouse president, Frieda Curtis vice-president and Edith Reed secretary and treasurer.

At the end of our first year a few of our members quit school and another joined us, Anna Bowers. In our Sophomore B year we elected George Snodgrass president and Edith Reed secretary and treasurer.

We went through our second year and Mary Fero became a member of our class. In our Sophomore A term Ivory Etling became president and Edith Reed still held her job of secretary and treasurer.

Two years ago a great and loud cry came from the members of our class. The cry, "We are Upper-classmen" rang through the streets of Barberton and the halls of our beloved High School.

But alas! as the years had rolled by our class had diminished to about one-half of our first members. Many had finished the two-year course and had entered upon their life's work. In our Junior year Earleene Kirby entered her position as president and still Edith Reed held her own.

The days flew swiftly by as we attended to our work faithfully and cheerfully, and at last another cry went up: "We are Seniors".

Every day in every way the cry grew louder and louder, until the very walls of the High School shook. Once more we felt important, but we did not fall. When we were Seniors George Snodgrass was again elected president and Ivory Etling secretary and treasurer. In our Senior A term Waldo Keck took Ivory's place.

All through these four long years we have strived to help our school in every way we could. We have done our work faithfully, we went to our parties and the entertainments of the school gladly, bought the athletic tickets willingly, and helped in every way possible to make our school better.

"But soon for us will the school days be ended" and our fifty-two members will soon enter the world, brilliant young ladies and handsome young men. Won't the world feel honored?

We, the Class of '23, hope that your class history will be as full of pleasant memories, friendship and joys as ours has been.

There is one more thing to be said. We, the June Class of '23, wish to express our regret and sorrow at the death of our beloved principal, Mr. Copper. We shall always remember him as the friend who helped us build our character. Because of him we will be better men and women.

CLASS PROPHECY

I, a spinster of thirty-eight, decided to take my long cherished trip around the world. I had always had two desires: One to take this trip and the other to get a man. I had given up all hope of ever gaining the second, and not wishing the first to slip out of my fingers I decided to make the first desire come true.

So one bright day in the spring I gathered together all my necessary paraphenalia for the trip. I started out with a pussy-cat for my companion, a parrot to talk to, and a dog for my sole protection from the fresh young fellows of these days. Besides all this I had a large hat box, an umbrella—also for protection—two suitcases, and a satchel for baggage. But to my sorrow I was obliged to send my satchel home, as the railroad company could not afford to allow me to carry so much baggage on board.

I went on board the train at 6:00 P. M. for Chicago, as I had decided to go west first. I reserved a seat in the Pullman and after making myself comfortable I read the evening paper. That night my berth was very comfortable and I slept soundly, as old maids do.

Upon going into the dining car for breakfast the next morning I noticed a man sitting at a table across from the one which I occupied, but I paid no attention to that; he had a right to sit there if he wished. After a while I felt as if he was watching me and turning I caught him looking at me very curiously. After finishing my meal I started back to the Pullman car and looking into the mirror at the end of the car, I saw him rise and follow me. My heart filled with dismay, for I knew he was after my parrot. I hurried to my seat and hid my "Polly" under it. I sat down and made a pretention of reading a magazine. For the next five minutes I scanned the pages very closely until this same man stepped up to me and said, "Pardon me, but I believe I know you". I looked him squarely in the eye and recognized Cloyd Marshall. Well, we talked of Barberton High School days and he told me he was a traveling salesman for the Beeman Chewing Gum Co. We talked until we reached his station.

I reached Chicago at noon and as I stepped from the train a small boy ran up to me and asked if he could carry my baggage. I was about to refuse when I saw something familiar in his face, outside of the dirt on it. I asked him what his name was and he answered John Eberwein. How strange! I thought he looked like a fellow in my class at High School. Just then a man came running forward. "John! John!" he called. I glanced at him and sure enough it was "Ernie" Eberwein. We exchanged a few hurried words before he left for his work. He is manager of the Chicago Stock Yards.

I went down street in search of a hotel but not having been in Chicago before I did not know where to look. I asked a policeman who was standing on the curbing of Dearborn street to aid me. He looked at me and was about to say "Palmer House", when I recognized him as John Hlas.

Following his directions I went to buy a ticket for the elevated railway. The ticket agent handed me my ticket and I noticed a ring on his third finger that was just like my class ring. I asked him who he was and he said he was Roy Slee.

The conductor on the elevated railroad was Joe Sutter. We also talked of old times and he told me he was married and had five children, the dead image of their father.

As I entered the lobby of Palmer House I saw a stylish looking couple and I recognized Nat Plaine and his "dear little wife, Aletheia". She then invited me to her house for dinner the next evening.

After I was rested I started out to see my chum, Glenna Stine, whom I knew lived in Chicago. While we talked of old times her husband came home and I saw it was Ralph Hagey, who is now at the head of the Swift Packing Industries. So she had captured the "Rudy" of our class. In the evening I went with the Hagey's to Lincoln Park. There I met two more members of our class, Frank Seryak, who was Zoological Expert of Lincoln Park, and his assistant, Lohman Lower.

The next evening, true to my engagement, I went to the Plane's for dinner. Alethia said that she had a surprise for me, and that she had invited the Waltze's for dinner. She said they were both members of our class. When they arrived they were no other than Paul Waltz and Frieda Curtis. Nat Plane and Paul Waltz were heads of the Sears & Roebuck Co.

As I was waiting for the train the next morning I bought an issue of the Chicago Tribune. On the first page was an editorial by the editor-in-chief, entitled "A Plea for a Course in Public Speaking". I glanced at the name signed to it and the name was Owen Taylor. So he was still talking about "Public Speaking".

I continued my journey until we had a wreck on the plains. Several persons were seriously injured and I recognized the doctor and nurse who were taking care of the injured as Robert Beidle and Anna Bowers. "Bob" learned doctoring in "Wyre's Pharmacy".

As I was in a hurry I took a taxi through the mountains, but an accident occurred when we had gone about three miles and I was forced to transfer myself and my baggage to another occupant of the road. We came upon a fellow singing, "Shall We Gather at the River". As he saw our plight he laughed and said with pride as he looked at his own car, "There's nothing like a Chevrolet to climb a mountain". When I heard that I knew it was Percy Weatherwax. He is now President of the Chevrolet Motor Car Company. He also told me he was a returned missionary from the Fiji Islands. That was the reason for his choice of song. Percy always said he had the ability to make people say "yes". I know this is true, because he married Lucile Galehouse.

Percy took me to a small Western town where I was obliged to stay for a couple of days. It was on Sunday and being quite religious I attended a small church. As I entered I heard the congregation singing "Hark and Hear Harold and the Angels Sing". I looked and saw Harold Derhammer in the pulpit and his wife, Mary Fero, playing the organ. She was a preacher's daughter and now she's a preacher's wife.

In the audience was another member of my class, Waldo Keck, a large rancher, and his wife, Pauline Bushey. She had organized several Y. W. C. A.'s in the West before she captured Waldo.

I then went to Salt Lake City and I learned that Ivory Etling was mayor. He was now a strong advocate of Mormonism. In this city, I also saw Lillian Johnston, who was Ivory's private secretary.

I thought I couldn't leave the West without first visiting Hollywood, Calif. I went to see a rehearsal of a movie and there I saw my old friends, Neva Motmiller, Lenora Oswald and Thelma Mayer, who had become movie stars.

I crossed the Pacific Ocean and landed in Japan. There I found Edgar Sigler, who is an agent for the Walk-Over Shoe Co., trying to sell shoes to the Japanese. He was accompanied by his wife, Ruth Mackel, who is a great help to him.

In China I found Leah St. John, was a foreign missionary. I found her trying to teach the Chinese the ways of civilized people.

I did not meet anyone else I knew until I reached Venice, Italy, where I met the great prima dona, Miss Madgel Merfield, competing with Galli-Curci and singing the songs of the great composer, Edith Reed, who is also in Venice.

I then took the train for Paris. As I stepped from the train I saw a party of men, whom I learned were going to Africa to shoot elephants. Among them were Harry Milford and Lenard Beyer, who are dealers in skins of wild animals.

One evening in Paris I picked up a French newspaper and in it was a poem written by Kate Wallace. I remembered her; she wrote poems when we were in High School together.

As I needed a new gown and having seen advertised a designer of such articles, I went to see her and who do you suppose it was? Helen Hall. I did not know Helen governed the styles, until now.

I boarded the ship to cross the Atlantic Ocean and I soon learned that Howard Ries was the Captain. I enjoyed the trip across the sea very much, for Howard and I talked of old times in Barberton High School.

It was a beautiful day when I arrived in New York. After I was rested and had eaten my noonday meal I started out to see the sights. The first place I entered was Woolworth's 5 and 10. On the second floor I came upon two men talking. One of the men looked very familiar and when the other man called him by his name, it was Taylor Powell. I learned that Taylor was a manager of a 5 and 10 in Buffalo. After telling him I would visit Buffalo in a few days on my way to Canada I left him.

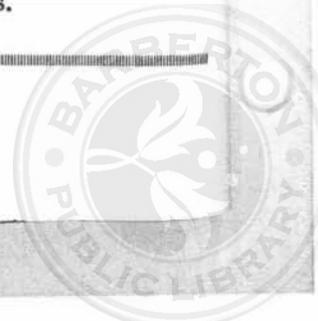

As I needed some money I entered the First National Bank. While I was waiting for the cashier to cash my check a man came out of the President's office and I recognized George Snodgrass. We had a good talk and he told me he was the President of this bank, of the Y. M. C. A. of New York, and a large business concern. George always was popular. He also told me where I could find my old chum, Pauline Davis, so I went up Fifth Ave. to her home, but I found her name was no longer Davis, but—well you can guess what. George thought he'd play a trick on me.

In the evening she took me to an entertainment. On the way she told me of her life after leaving school. At the entertainment we met another friend of my High School days. She used to be Earleene Kirby, but she had married a wealthy New York merchant and is now one of the leaders in New York society.

I looked at my program and on it was a reading by Mildred Kirchberg, "Cigarette's Ride and Death". After the performance I saw it was my old friend, Mildred. She is now traveling with the Redpath Chautauqua Co.

The band that evening was led by Beryle Boden. This band used to be called Sousa's Band, but Beryle is Sousa's successor.

The next day I passed a building and under the name of the store were the names of the heads, Harold Yoder and Hugh Wells. You know them, I know them, everybody knows them—Hart Schaffner & Marx. They were the same fellows that were in my class.

I then visited the slums of New York. On all sides I heard the name of my old friend, Katherine Frase. I met her and she told me she had spent her life since leaving school as a welfare worker.

While in New York I visited a High School and found that Sarah Levin was teaching French there. She told me that the next year she was going to France to study.

As I had now seen all of New York I boarded the train for Buffalo and from there to Niagara, where I went to St. Katherine's, Canada. After seeing this city I went to Montreal. On the street corner of Montreal I saw a man and woman arguing, and recognized Reuben Sabetay and Kreith Mutersbaugh. They were still arguing on "Higher Education". I spoke to them and they told me of their lives in Canada. Reuben getting tired of America, returned to his native soil to manage a clothing store. Kreith was a lecturer on "Higher Education" and was talking in Montreal that evening.

After seeing Canada I returned to the United States and went to Cleveland, Ohio. There I found Florence Ries managing a 5 and 10 store. She told me she worked under Taylor Powell, until transferred to Cleveland.

My trip was over and I returned home. I had traveled around the world and had seen or heard of every member of the June class of '23. I returned home with my cat, dog, parrot, umbrella, two suitcases, and a hatbox, but without a man.

CLASS WILL

Heretofore it has been the custom for the Senior A's to leave a last will and testament with the Senior B's as executors. We being "so different" have decided to leave this in the hands of the whole school. We hope by doing so we will leave to the school something more than the memory of our handsome faces.

THEREFORE: We, the Senior Class of June, 1923, declare this our last will and testament, making all other wills and testaments heretofore written null and void.

WE BEQUEATH: 1st. To the Senior B's, our engaging manner which becomes a Senior A so well.

2nd. To the Junior A's, our "pep" in the study hall.

3rd. To the Junior B's, our ability to get out of the study hall at dismissal. As you are last you'll need to step quite lively to keep up with the "fast" Seniors.

4th. To the Sophomore A's, that ability to "put it over on the teachers" which so many of us have. You see, we're experienced in the ways of the school world, having been here the longest (?) and we consider this quality a sterling one.

5th. To the Sophomore B's, as successful a career as we have had.

6th. To the "Freshies", our "push". You can see we must have had a lot of it or we'd never have "pushed" ourselves clear out of the high school as we are doing now.

7th. To "Mike" Stewart, our French "pony". The one we have does not kick or bite or act a bit stubborn; it is always there when you want it.

8th. To Davilla Thomas, Kreith Mutersbaugh's shyness.

9th. To Henry Weckman, the "Village Cutup's" dashing ways and "Rudy Vaselino" looks. We hope he uses them as profitably as Ralph has succeeded in doing in the past four years.

10th. Some of Pauline Bushey's avoirdupois to Ruth Smith.

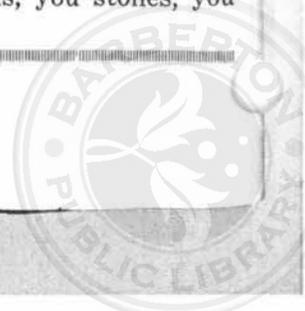

11th. To Coach Spiers, a box of Wrigley's chewing gum. Chew it hard, coach; we'll guarantee "the flavor lasts".

12th. To Miss Cline, some "Irish Confetti" to cast upon her illustrious and well-behaved American History Class. Her voice will wear out some day, we fear, and as we were once in her class we feel sorry for her and have tried thus to extend our wholehearted sympathy.

13th. To Miss Shaw, some brighter French students. We are sure she will enjoy the change.

14th. To Mr. Light, some well-deserved peace. We fear he hasn't had much with us around.

15th. To Mr. McNeil, our honorable honorary member and Algebra teacher, a handsome reward, because, altho many times he has been tempted to say "You blocks, you stones, you worse than senseless things", he has kept his temper and his tranquility and has at last succeeded in bringing the light of knowledge to our noble heads.

16th. To Elizabeth Decker, Mary Fero's curly hair.

17th. To Mr. Everett, a new pair of shoes. We fear he has worn out all his others following us up and down the hall, trying to find some of us loitering. We hope you may have a more successful year starting next semester and one not quite so strenuous.

18th. To Mr. Reed, a megaphone to use at dismissal in study hall only.

19th. Last but not least, our stately mien to the school in general, as we have found this to be one of our treasured "Beauty Secrets".

Come to us for information on "How to be Beautiful with the Faces We Have". We are sure you will be satisfied and give absolute guarantee of success.

RAH! RAH! SENIORS!

CLASS POEM

The Senior A of course is the best of all classes,
With its bright handsome lads and beautiful lasses.
Now when I'm through telling you I have a little hunch
You'll agree with me that it's a wonderful bunch.
First of all we have George, so handsome and tall,
We know he has no foe at all.
And then there's Earleene, so dainty and sweet,
When it comes to good looks she's got 'em all beat.
And then there's Frieda, with the winning smile,
Who's had Paul going for quite a while.
With Pauline and Katherine none can compare;
When it comes to Latin they're both right there.
Oh yes, there's Aletheia, who's in love with Nat;
They'll make a good pair, we bet you on that.
Edith and Leah have little to say,
But they come with their lessons prepared every day.
No villians or blackguards for our class will lay
'Cause Kreith's avoirdupois will keep them away.
You all know Waldo, the bright smiling one;
He wears his smile from morning till daylight is done.
We all felt puffed up and every face seemed to beam
When they chose Glenna captain of the basketball team.
There's Thelma, a modest, neat and pretty girl;
It's been rumored around that Coach thinks she's a pearl.
Taylor in stature is really quite small,
But when it comes to grey matter he lacks none at all.
There's Hugh and Harold with the Valentino hair,
But we all must admit they're a striking young pair.
We can't understand with all the pretty girls in our class
Why Joe Sutter has to pick a Senior B lass.
The whole class is wondering if the rumor is true
That Pauline Davis is falling for our president, too.
Now girls, please sit still when I mention his name—
We know Ralph's a heart-smasher but he isn't to blame.
Now there's lots more of them but I haven't the time
To mention them all in my jingling rhyme.

—Kate Wallace

CLASS SONG

TUNE: "OH, WHAT A PAL WAS MARY"

Four happy years
Now have gone by
Since our class entered this High School.
When we're grown old
These memories of gold
Will fill us with happiness bright;
Loyal and true
To our High School
And to the Green and White.

Barberton High,
Our dear old school,
'Tis with regret that we leave you,
But to life's call
Must one and all
Answer with heart strong for right.
We will bring fame to our school's name
And to the Green and White.

Chorus

Oh, what a class is '23
Oh, what a class are we.
This famous class will ne'er give in,
Each battle we're bound to win.
Tho' future years may part us
And we'll never meet again,
We'll still hold dear
The memory
Of our dear old High School days.

MY CLASS

There have been other classes,
It may be,
Made up of lads and lasses
Of degree;
Which maybe a strong contention
That they deserve some mention,
But it meets with strong dissension
Here, from me!

Not one of them is fit for Naming here;
They needn't think they're It, for
They are queer;
We're the only class that's ever
Welded bonds that cannot sever,
Certain to endure forever
And a year.

We're the finest and the brightest
That there are,
The loveliest and rightest
Near and far;
We all are brave and witty,
Good looking, if not pretty—
We're the brightest in the city,
Each a star.

CLASSMATES EVER

Friends I'll meet as I grow older,
But no better friends than these;
Later years mean hearts grown colder,
Lacking earlier memories;
Later years mean hearts untruthful
Filled with tho'ts of selfishness.
Here, from souls as frank as youthful
Comes the love my life shall bless.

Here, between us, no concealment
Lies within the outstretched hand;
Here we give ourselves revealment,
Firmly, truly do we stand;
Here's no wrong that needs correction.
Classmates, everyone a friend
In the bonds of true affection,
Bound together to the end.

FOOTBALL

The football season of 1922 presented only a mediocre schedule and fair prospects for a successful season. Our squad numbered about thirty-five men. We were at first handicapped by the lack of a field, but finally we made our headquarters at Eighth Street, where we played our home games.

We opened with Cuyahoga Falls and beat them by one lone touch-down on their own field. This game showed a decided lack of natural strength and endurance on the part of the Barberton team.

We then played Massillon at home. We are not saying much about this game except they showed us what a high school team could look like, and we gave them a lot of credit for that. Bob Light and "Achie" Stough also demonstrated that they could play a little football too.

Our schedule then called for Kenmore, Orrville, Akron North and St. Vincent's. In all these games we made a splendid start but a shameful finish. It required no particular football ability to win from any of these schools, but Akron North finished with the long end of the score.

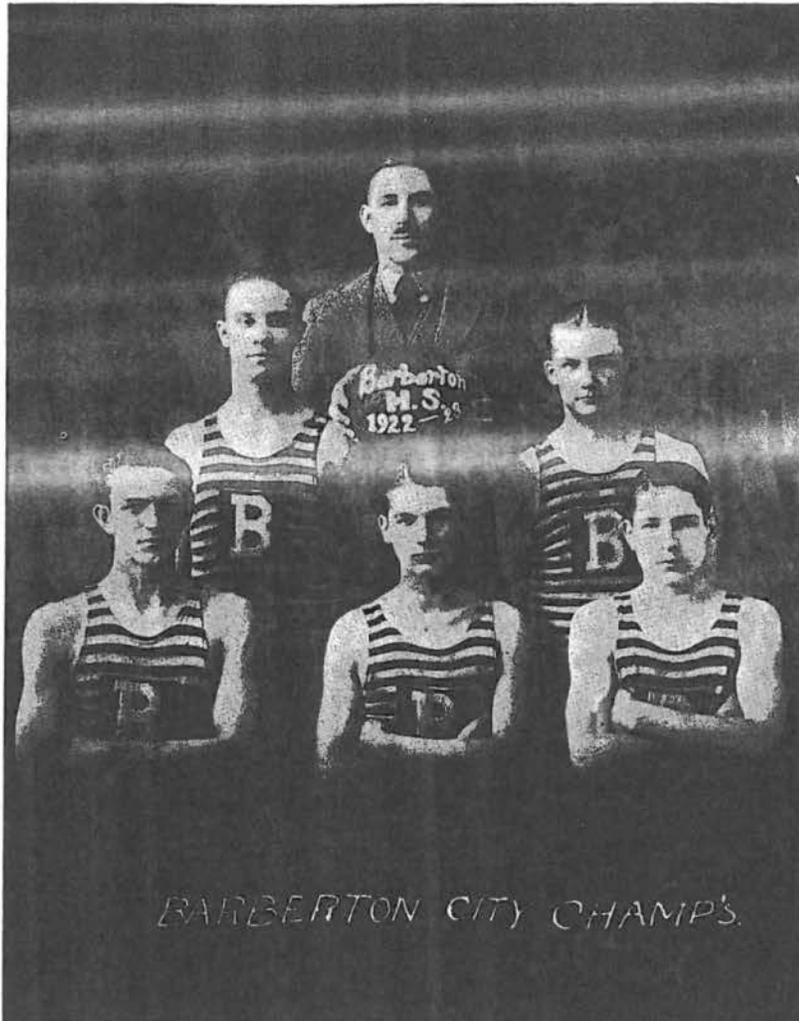

The last game of the season was with Wooster. We would not mention it but the fact to be remembered is that we play them again at Barberton next year, and we must realize it will take a well trained, husky and enduring team to lick that bunch of farmers.

BASKETBALL

Our Basketball season opened with bright prospects. Our schedule was well arranged. We lost at the start a close game to Akron Central and another to Lorain. After that we battled successfully Orrville, St. Vincent's, Massillon and West High, and looked like we were all set for a steady run of good luck. Just before the feud fight with Wadsworth, however, the flu invaded our squad and made us look hopeless before the largest crowd we ever had at a High School game. We also played St. Vincent's in rotten condition and the score ran accordingly. We then played a couple of easy teams and got back in fair condition again. We started toward Wadsworth with two hundred loyal sports and won a fitting revenge for the defeat they handed us when we were out of condition, although in this game we were minus the services of Bill Immler.

Canton came to Barberton the next week. They also came touted as the best team in Northern Ohio. They ran up a six point lead in the first half and then Bill Immler got in the game and we held them even the rest of the period. This contest was probably the fastest game of the season.

We decided to enter the North Eastern Tournament at Akron with hopes of a trip to Columbus. Our team was never in better condition and our chances looked good. Again we were disappointed, losing to Canton in the second round of the tournament by an 8-9 score.

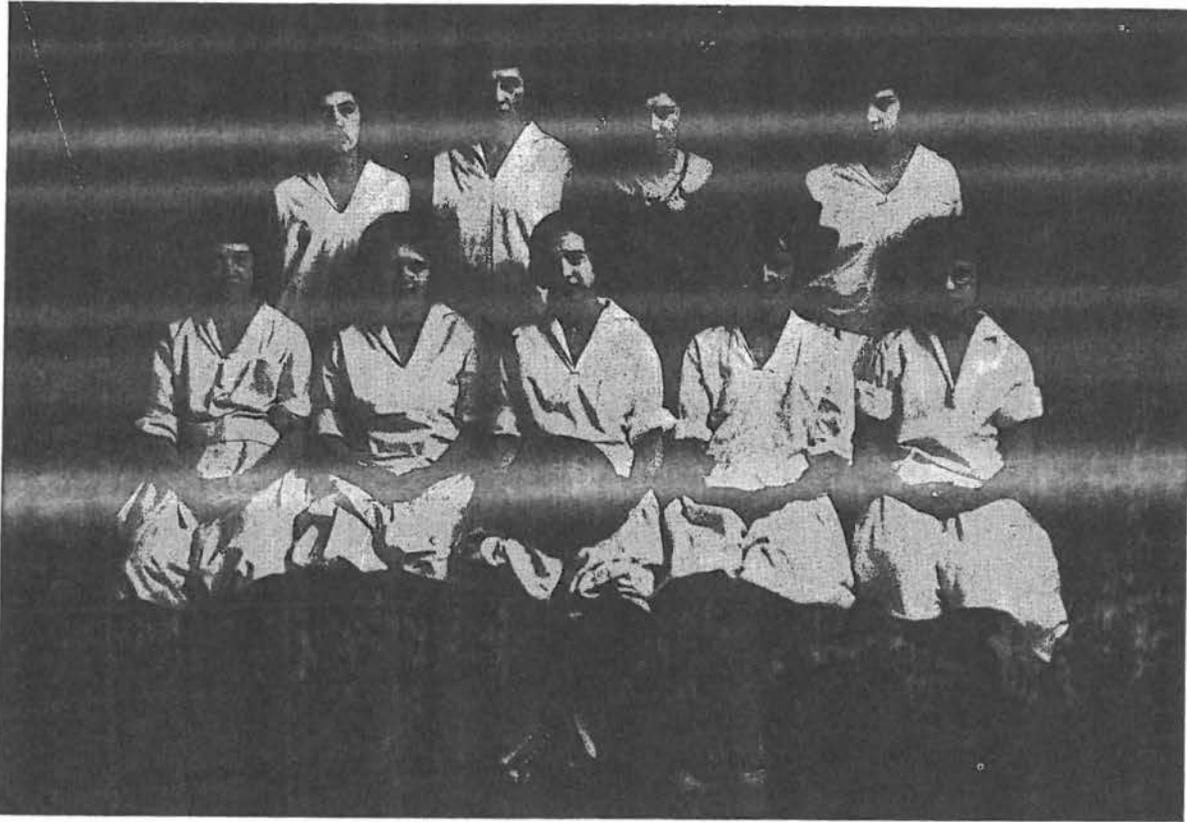

As the tournament was the climax of the season interest in the two remaining games on our schedule was almost a minus quantity. We almost let Cuyahoga Falls beat us. We spruced up a little and finished the season by defeating the Diamond Match and consequently declaring ourselves the Barberton City Champs.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls opened the basketball season last November with the Wadsworth girls. It was a very fast and exciting game which ended with Barberton four points ahead.

Then to our misfortune we lost practically our whole team in January and we had to pick up another team in a hurry and go to Cuyahoga Falls. Even though we did lose the game we learned many points necessary to know in order to have a strong team. After this game we worked hard together every noon and the evenings the boys did not practice.

We ended the season with as good a team as we started with and if the season had lasted longer we would have probably ended it with a better team.

TRACK AND SPRING SPORTS

Organized spring sports are a new thing in Barberton. It seems the custom is to spend this period of the year in a rather irresponsible manner. An attempt is being made to develop material for next fall by a spring football tournament.

Thirty boys have signed up for the course but only a few have presented themselves on the field. Such a thing simply hasn't been done in Barberton.

A track schedule has also been arranged, but here again interest is low. Few of the boys have had any experience and the program looks like a failure. However a certain few individuals are working hard and perhaps in time the school will get the spirit.

THE RECREATION CLUB

Of all the entertainments and parties enjoyed by the pupils of Barberton High School there are not many that would surpass the fun that the students who attended the Recreational Club meetings.

The original Recreational Club was for everyone's enjoyment. The older folks came and say, if they didn't have a regular good time! (If you don't believe it, ask Mr. Light). But the news of all these side-splitting good times spread so fast that soon they had to divide the Club into two parts. I suppose they took the high school pupils out because they weren't able to play some of the strenuous games as well as the older ones were. So the Club divided and the young people had one of their own.

Both the Clubs owe almost everything, especially the organization of the Clubs, to the successful efforts of Miss Howe and Miss Bausman. I'll bet anyone, "dollars to doughnuts", that he can't find any two women, or men either, for that matter, that can make people forget their sorrows and their rheumatism and dance the Virginia Reel or play "Bachelor" as well as Miss Howe and Miss Bausman.

The Recreational Club has made a great success of things. It has done bushels of good toward introducing good recreation for everybody. The only thing to be regretted is that meetings were not held five or six times a week instead of once every two weeks.

The fact that they are well able to "show 'em a good time" was proven by the Mansfield students that gave us a short program. They were entertained at a party given by the Recreational Club and they were just "wild" about it. They were very anxious to return to Barberton again.

It is absolutely certain that everyone would get the frown wrinkles off their foreheads if they joined the Recreational Club.

Y. W. C. A. CLUB

The Y. W. Club of B. H. S. has just passed through a very successful year.

The first meeting was a hike to Tuscora Park where a long-to-be-remembered sunset service was followed by a wiener roast. Not one of the elusive wieners fell in the fire—did they? How many did you eat? Those funny, catchy songs which the girls learned at conference almost made the very trees laugh and then shudder at our terrible voices, which rang out only between bites.

The sock dolls were popular in the Study Hall and more so with the "Kiddies" who received them. These were part of our service work.

There is no doubt but what one of the most successful meetings was the "bloomer party". "Rough and tumble", but everybody came away enthusiastically declaring what a good time they had had.

Our inspirational and devotional meetings we believe served their intended purpose in making the Y. W. girls "bigger, better, broader".

The year was brought to a more than fitting close with our Mother and Daughter reception. This meeting was enjoyed by Mother and Daughter alike.

The object ahead now is next year. We are losing some very valuable members in the Senior A Class, but they leave believing that we will "carry on" and that is our task. Every member must pledge herself now to do all that she is able to make next year the best year the club has ever known.

The program for next year of course is not worked out; the girls who go to conference will no doubt bring back very interesting material for our work. But listen—it is whispered that next year is to start with an intensive and extensive membership campaign.

HI-Y CLUB

In April, 1922, there was a County Hi-Y Conference held in Akron, Ohio, and all the churches were to send delegates besides the eight boys sent from Barberton High School. These boys were to attend the Conference for the purpose of starting a Hi-Y in B. H. S. It was not long afterward that a few members got together and started one of the clubs for B. H. S. that tries to raise the standard of the school.

The Hi-Y club had great encouragement by having the Ohio State Older Boys Conference in Akron during our Christmas vacation. It inspired the club and gave us something to work for, because we agreed to pay seventy-five dollars by January, 1924, for missionary work. This debt was partly covered by members of the club promising to pay certain amounts and also by the Hi-Y and Y. W. C. A. giving the plays.

When Barberton gets our long-planned-for Y. M. C. A. it will be from steady help of a few business men, all the preachers, and the Hi-Y. It is our aim to get and to keep a clean place for young men to go and be able to play a good clean game for recreation.

The members of our club change very frequently on account of graduation but we always get new ones and so help a greater number. We have about twenty active members in the club and about half as many honorary members, most of them at college. The club loses Waldo Keck, Cloyd Marshall, Robert Beidle, Ralph Hagey, Beryle Boden, last year's vice-president, and George Snodgrass, last year's president, by graduation.

We hope with the aid of the school to have a very successful year of 1924 and expect as much under the very good leadership of Byron Stroh, our newly elected president.

Anyone is invited to the meeting and we wish you would attend in order that you may get a better understanding of the club.

THE SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club has had a very successful year. The membership has grown until it now numbers thirty, all of whom are very enthusiastic supporters.

The programs have proven to be educational as well as entertaining. We have listened to interesting addresses on "Variation in Plant Life", "Phosphorus", "The Structure and Use of Asbestos", "Chlorine", "Ether", "Manufacture of Paper", "The Life and Works of Luther Burbank", "The Making of Glass", "Flames", and "The Einstein Theory". The Club has also had two outside speakers from the Columbia Chemical Company—Mr. Cunningham and Mr. Kreider—who spoke on the subjects, "The Chemical Department of the Columbia Chemical" and "Original Ideas and Their Applications" respectively. Dale Werntz also appeared on the program once, in which he exhibited his self-made generator.

A merit system has been introduced in which you can win a pin made especially for the Science Club if you secure fifty points for such things as doing an experiment, making inventions, collecting cocoons, etc.

At two meetings we have had "eats" which everyone seemed to enjoy. Also every evening after the program was over we "listened in" on the radio.

Be a member next year if you aren't already one!

MUSIC IN B. H. S.

Music in the High School plays as important a part in the development of students as athletics. It is something in which all may participate and music should be given the same support as any other high school function. Our school has not as yet reached this state but it is fast improving. The orchestra and band, directed by William Boden, have received much attention and many compliments from the public before which they have appeared many times.

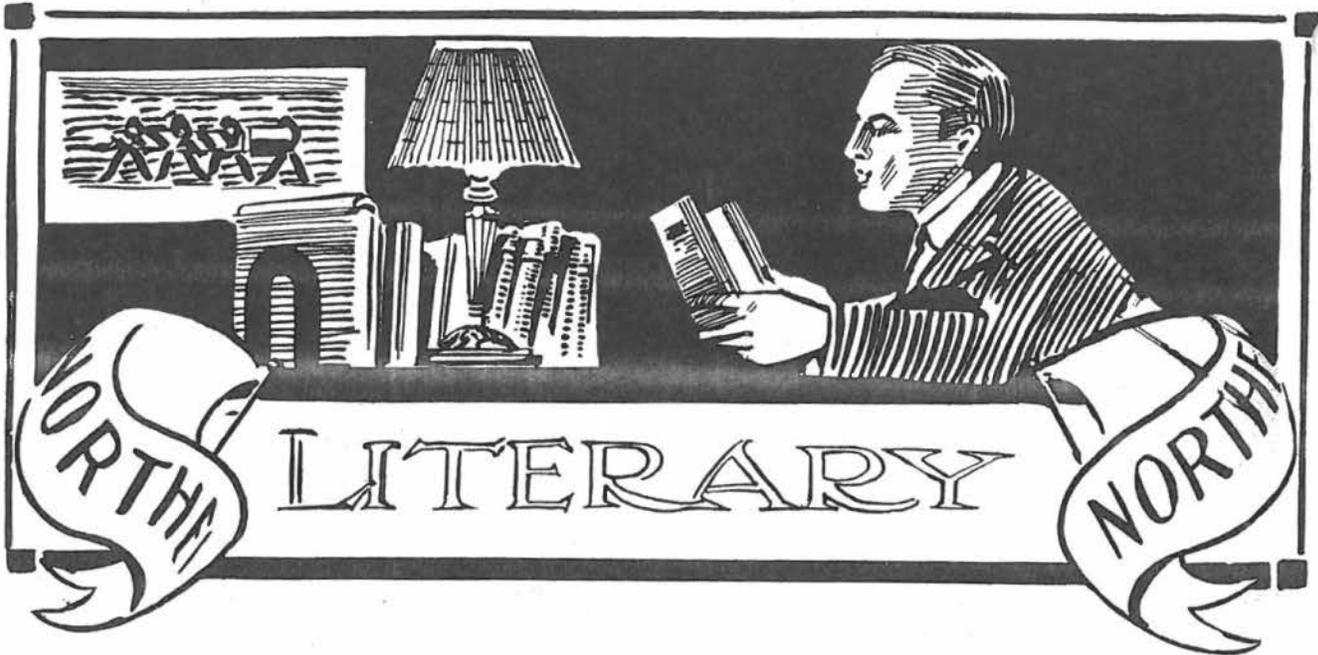

The Glee Clubs have been much in demand at the several churches in the city. The boys and girls have enjoyed the work this semester, especially being "painted up" for the "Nautical Knot".

The Music Club, altho it is still new and unorganized at the present time, will probably be a success by next semester. We surely enjoyed the concert given by the Mansfield Music Club and we hope they enjoyed the one several of our members presented to them in return.

The field of Music is broad, as we all know, so our High School will have plenty of chance to improve in the development of our musical talent.

THE LEGEND OF FAIR MARGUERITE

Once upon a time there was a young princess who, true to her name, Marguerite, was as fresh as a flower and as pure as a pearl. While she was yet in her infancy she lost both her parents.

Marguerite was well protected despite the fact that she had lost both her guardians. She had a kind protectress, a good fairy who always kept watch over her.

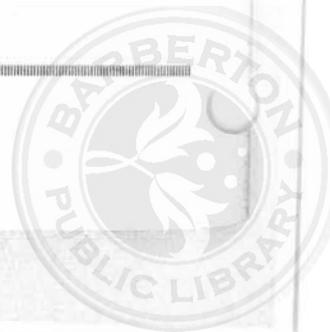

She wasn't the kind of a fairy we read about in old nursery tales, because she believed that instead of endowing a young princess with all sorts of accomplishments without any trouble on her part, it was better to let her acquire them by study and application. She took up her abode with Marguerite as a mortal by the name of Bonne, and Marguerite never dreamt that her governess was a fairy.

Bonne took good care of her and, under the care of her good instructress Marguerite daily increased in grace and wisdom until she was a marvel of perfection.

Bonne, wishing to see her god-daughter happily married, sent her picture to all the neighboring chevaliers, letting them know that on a certain day the castle gate should be open to the one worthy of being the husband of Marguerite.

On the day appointed a crowd of chevaliers presented themselves before the castle gate. Bonne placed her ward at a small latticed window where she could see all that was passing, for she was anxious to observe whether she showed any preference.

It was a brilliant spectacle. Each Knight was preceded by a man-at-arms bearing his banner, on which was embroidered his coat-of-arms. Judges on an elevated bench asked each one in turn his name and pretensions to the hand of Princess Marguerite. Each assertion was put to the proof, after which each presented himself before the drawbridge, which was to open of its own accord on the appearance of the worthy one.

Many tried but none succeeded. At last one knight, bolder and ruder than the rest, advanced at the head of his retainers, saying, "Let us pull the castle down and not leave one stone upon another."

The words were hardly spoken when a young chevalier who had been hidden among the crowd spurred furiously forward and exclaimed. "Touch but a single stone, and I defy you to mortal combat."

This attracted the notice of the chief judge, who came forward and began to question him. Isolier, as the knight was called, having no idea he had any chance to win the beautiful princess, remounted his white horse and was about to leave the scene, when the drawbridge opened and the chief judge's robe fell to the ground, disclosing the figure of the fairy, who said to him,—“Enter; you are Marguerite's choice!”

The noble bearing, the frank and intelligent countenance, and more than all, the upright feelings of the young Isolier had touched Marguerite's heart and the result was as we have seen.

The nuptial benediction was pronounced that very day and Isolier and Marguerite dwelt happily together for many years, still under the guidance of the good fairy.

ELIZA WILLIAMS ON SUPERSTITION

"I, Eliza Williams, am disgusted with this whole ding-busted town. They all think I'm superstitious. My great gosh, I can tell you I'm not, Mirandy. Why I should say not; I think that's the silliest thing I ever heard of.

"Black cat! Where? Oh my, what a relief, I tho't it was comin' across the street. You know, when I see a black cat comin' across my path I always turn my back. What you laughing about? You think that's superstition? Well, I hope to tell you it's not. I just don't like 'em, that's all.

"Do you know, every time the number 13 rings in my ears I feel so queer and just feel something terrible is going to happen. Yet am I superstitious? Don't you say that I believe in those silly, simple superstitions.

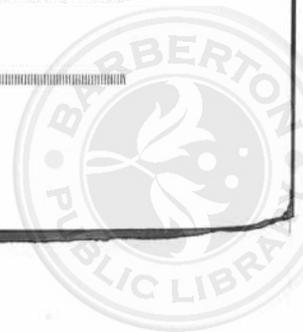

"Look here! Will you come away from under that ladder? Don't you know bad luck will come to you if you walk under it? That's being superstitious? Not a bit of it. That's only what my old granddaddy used to tell me and he always told the truth. I guess, Mirandy Jane Jones, I ain't no better than my folks was and don't you go gettin' none of them new-fangled notions into that head of yourn or believe me you'll be no friend of mine.

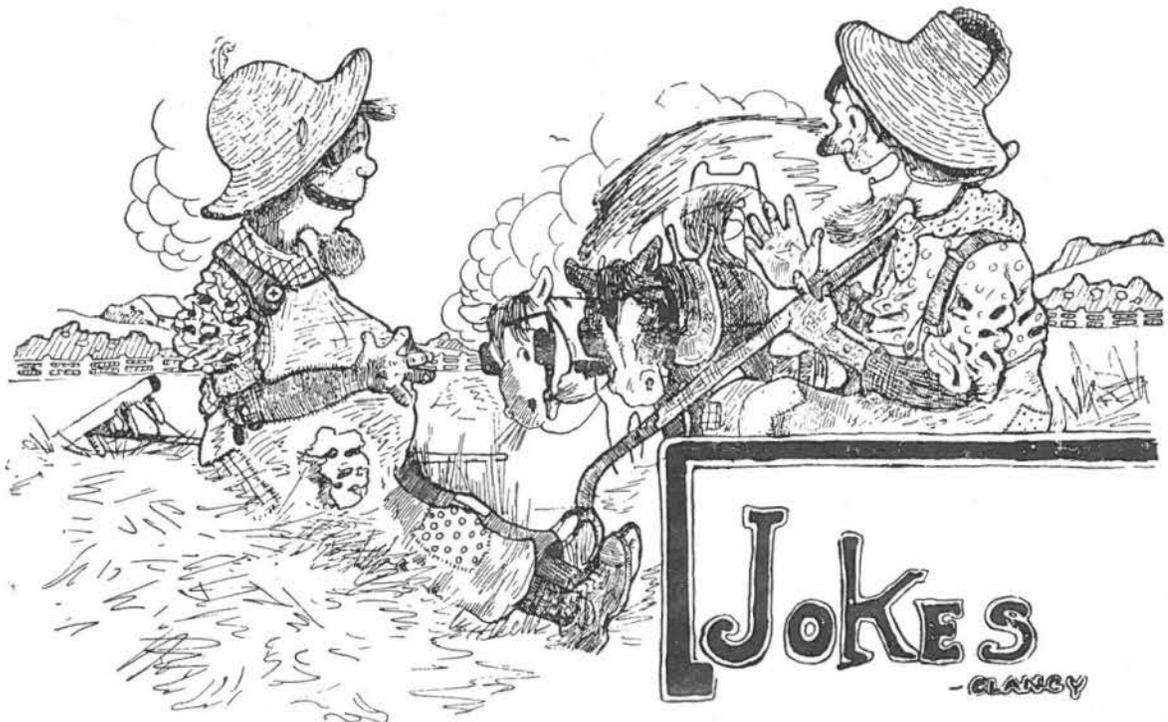

"You broke your big mirror the other day? Well, well. Now I know why all your little chickens died that always was so healthy and why the plaster all come off your parlor ceiling the very day you were goin' to have the preacher to supper. It's all because you'll have bad luck for seven years for breakin' that mirror. What are you actin' like that for? You say that those chicks died because they got the roup, and the ceiling came down because the frost had gotten in during that cold spell we had and weakened it? Well you can talk all you're a might to, Mirandy, but I know it all happened because of that mirror.

"You have to go? Well, goodbye, and I hope you get rid of some of them foolish notions of yourn 'fore I see you again.

"That woman's crazy—plumb crazy! Trying to tell me I'm superstitious. What's the world comin' to anyway! Am I superstitious? Humph! !"

Mr. Niehaus (pulling a package out of his pocket): "I want to show the class the interior structure of a frog today."

The package disclosed two hamburger sandwiches.

Mr. Niehaus: "Well, I'm sure I ate my lunch a few minutes ago."

Butch Sigler: "I want to try on that suit in the window."

Frank Seryak: "Sorry, sir, but you'll have to use the dressing-room."

An engaged girl will press a man's trousers from eight till eleven every night, and after they are married she won't press 'em for love or money.

A psychiatric board was testing the mentality of a negro.

"Do you ever hear voices without being able to tell who is speaking or where the sound comes from?"

"Yes suh," answered the negro.

"And when does this occur?"

"When I'se talking over de telephone."

"Here's something queer," said the dentist. "You say this tooth has never been worked on before, but I find small flakes of gold on my instrument."

"I think you have struck my back collar button," moaned Harry.

A professor says that sedentary work tends to lessen endurance. In other words, the more one sits the less one can stand.

Heaven helps those who help others to help themselves.

George S.: "Who's there?"

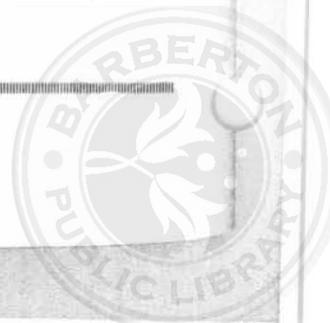

Burglar: "Lie still and be quiet. I'm looking for money."

George: "Wait, and I'll get up and help you look."

Don't believe everything you see in print, especially if it is on a bottle of liquor.

"Here comes Hazel. Isn't she a keen little dame?"

"Yes, watch her cut me."

Teacher: "What is a geyser?"

Pupil: "A waterfall going up."

Fare: "Say, driver, not so fast—this is my first trip in a taxi"

Driver: "Mine, too."

He: "What do you say to a tramp in Richmond Park?"

She: "I never speak to them!"

Little Willie (pointing to a picture of a zebra: What's that?"

Little Johnnie: "It looks like a horse in a bathing-suit."

Husband: "My dear, these seeds you've ordered won't flower until the second summer."

Wife: "Oh, that's quite all right. This is a last year's catalog."

College Student writing home: "How do you spell 'financially'?"

Roommate: "F-I-N-A-N-C-I-A-L-L-Y, and there are two R's in embarrassed."

"Is this the Fire Department?" yelled the excited chemistry professor over the phone.

"Yes, what do you want?"

"How far is it to the nearest alarm box? My laboratory is on fire and I must turn in the call at once!"

Wife: "Funny about these strawberries I bought. They look red, but they are hard and sour."

Hub: "My dear, the redness of early strawberries does not indicate ripeness; they are merely blushing at the price that is charged for them."

"This law is a queer business."

"How so?"

"They swear a man to tell the truth."

"What then?"

"And every time he shows signs of doing so some lawyer objects."

The young lady palmist at the church bazar said to one of her girl clients: "I see by your hand you are going to be married."

"Wonderful," said the girl.

"You are engaged to a man named Wilkins," continued the amateur seer.

"How amazing," gasped the girl, "surely the lines on my hand can not reveal the name—"

"Lines," sniffed the palmist. "Who said anything about lines? You are wearing the ring I returned to Mr. Wilkins three weeks ago."

"Does she know Grace to speak to?"

"No, only to talk about."

"Did Boreleigh ever repay you for that loan?"

"Amply. He has kept out of my way ever since."

"Do you get many reorders in your business?"

"No," replied the old bootlegger. "If any of my customers come back, it's only to haunt me."

He (with great dignity): "Then this is absolutely final?"

Co-ed: "Absolutely. Shall I return your letters?"

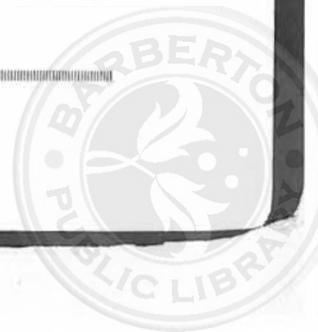

He: "Yes, please. I think they're good enough to use again."

"I am happy to know that my establishment was recommended to you by one of my former boarders."

"Yes, indeed, ma'am; I'm trying to get thin, you see, and he advised me to come here."

"Come, come, my man. You have been looking around a long time without buying. What do you want?"

"Guess I want another floorwalker," stated the gentleman addressed. "I'm the owner of this outfit."

A Foolish Poem

Your hair is of a golden hue,
Your lips are very red;
There's not a girl as pretty as you,
But empty is your head.

"Don't kiss me, please," sweet Mary cried,
"It isn't customary."
And then, oh, then, you should have heard
That fellow cus-to-Mary!

The other night
I took my girl
For a walk.
She said she was tired,
So we sat down
In the park.
Then she said
Her hands were cold,
So I held them for her.
And then.
She said
She was cold all over,
So I gave her my overcoat.
She hasn't spoken to me since.

Waldo's Prayer

Now I lay me down to sleep,
A pen and ledger within reach;
If I should die before I wake,
I hope your dues are up to date.

Mr. Spiers: "What are the exports of Virginia?"

Freshie: "Tobacco and livestock, sir."

Mr. Spiers: "Livestock? What kind of livestock?"

Freshie: "Camels, sir."

It's sometimes bad taste to kiss a girl who uses a lipstick.

"You said you would die for me."

"Yes, dearest."

"Then why couldn't I drive your car last night?"

Fancy This

Every night I dream that I'm on "Love's Ship" floating down "Moon River" and that "Tomorrow" when "The Tide Comes In" I'll be "Away Down South". "My Mammy Knows" I've had the "Haunting Blues" for you, "Mary Dear".

"Time After Time" in dreams I hear you say, "What'll You Do Without Me?" But, "Those Days Are Over" and "Some Sunny Day" I'll come "Stealing" back to "Georgia" because "You're Only a Baby", and I left you "All Over Nothing at All".

So when I get back your "Lovable Eyes" and "Hot Lips" will be "Mine, All Mine".

Lives of great men all remind us
As their pages o'er we turn,
That we're apt to leave behind us
Letters that we ought to burn.

The man who counts in this world is the cashier.

Sambo: "Mandy, can I kiss you?"
Mandy: "Piggly Wiggly."
Sambo: "What do you all mean?"
Mandy: "Help yo' self."

There were muffled sounds of a struggle in the other room, and a girl's voice squealed, "Stop!"

No response.

"Oh, please don't, Mother said—"

No response.

"Let me go this minute."

"One more yank and I'll have it out," consoled the dentist.

Tiny grains of powder,
Tiny dabs of paint,

Look just like they ain't.

My Dog

I've got a dog and his name is Fido.
He's a regular circus pup;
He can stand upon his hind legs
If you hold his front ones up.

She sat by the window, her head bent o'er her work. It was evening and the sun was just disappearing in the west, streaking the sky with lovely colors. Soft music issued from the next room. As she listened, she slowly turned her head toward the sunset. The tears fell thick and fast. Then she turned toward the room from whence the music issued, and softly called, "Robert, shut off that phonograph and come help me peel these onions".

Harold Yoder to Taylor Powell: "If a bale of hay is on one side of a creek and a mule is on the other side, and the creek is too swift to swim and too wide to jump, how will the mule get the hay?"

Taylor: "I give up."

Harold: "That's what the mule did."

Professor, in restaurant: "Waiter give me a bottle of Hack, hic, haec, hac."

Waiter, who has gone to college, does not move.

Professor: "What's the matter, don't you hear me?"

Waiter: "You ordered hack sir, but you afterwards declined it."

Ralph Hagey

"Is he dumb?"

"Dumb? Why he's so dumb, he wears gloves when he plays the cornet so he won't wake the baby."

It was midnight on the ocean,
It was storming to beat the band
But the sailor didn't mind it—
He was sitting on dry land.

Any Fool Can Knock

Don't laugh at those who make mistakes and stumble on the way,

For you are apt to follow them—and almost any day.

Don't think the others shifting sand, while you are solid rock.

And don't forget, for heaven's sake, that any fool can knock.

A woman never makes a fool of a man.
She merely tells him he is a wonder and lets nature take its course.

_____

One reason why we give little thought to our foreign relations is because they are poor relations.

_____

It is very easy to love your neighbor as

Lillian Johnston called at the postoffice.
"Is this the classified letter place?" she asked. When assured that it was, she gave her name and asked if there was a letter for her.

"Business or love letter?" jokingly inquired the clerk.

"Business", was the hesitating reply.

My mother often tells of times
When it was daily her delight—
Unless it rained—to roam the woods
To try to find a prince or knight;
The girls in books she read did that,
'Twas wonderful the luck they had,
Poor mother wore out lots of shoes
But—all she ever found was Dad.

"Say It With Flowers"

Father and his son Willie were walking thru the park one evening when Willie was in an inquisitive mood. "Father, what's a Bohemian?" he asked.

"A Bohemian, my son, is one who believes in free love—"

"Gee, there are lots of Bohemians right here in this park!"

Grand Goblin: "Order, there, order!"

Inebriated Klansman: "I'll take a beer and a ham sandwich."

He: "Even a dog likes a certain amount of petting."

She: "Perhaps that's why the girls call you a teahound."

"My heart is in the ocean," cried the poet.

"You've got me beat," said his seasick friend as he leaned over the rail.

Hazel Patterson: "The only men I kiss are my brothers."

Appie Lower: "What lodge do you belong to?"

"There's something in that too," said the burglar as he stuck his hand in the cuspidor.

The silence of the night was unbroken and had been for some time except for an occasional murmur coming from the porch swing, when a voice from out of the upstairs window sang out: "Dorothy, why don't you take that young man around to the back of the house so he can see the sunrise?"

"Pearls come from oysters, but diamonds usually come from some poor fish."

Kreith M.: "I'm afraid you don't like tea."

Hugh Wells: "I like tea well enough, but it's the next letter that I really love."
