In Memoriam

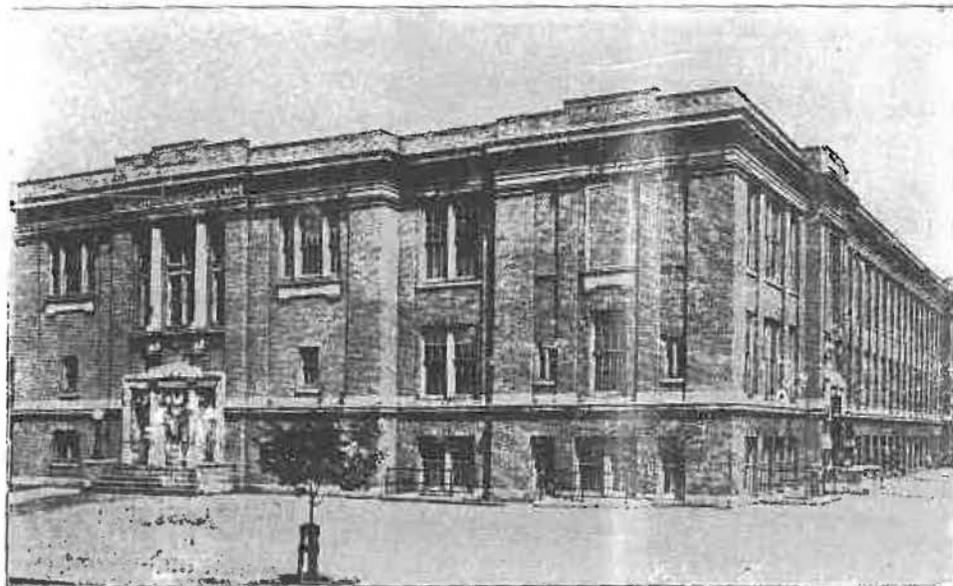

To A. A. McNeil, our revered and loved teacher and friend, who advised and directed us to do good; whose much regretted death occurred last summer and to whom we owe a debt of gratitude for his services and fatherly interest in us, we, the class of January '24, lovingly devote this Senior A number of the Magician.

- - Foreword - -

This Senior A number of the Magician is presented to the students, alumni, faculty and all those interested in B. H. S., so that they may keep it and recall many times the golden memories of high school life. In looking over its pages in the dim distant future, may you remember the days of joy, sorrow and friendly rivalry and all the other happy incidents connected with the days spent in B. H. S.

THE BLACK AND GOLD

From time immemorial gold has stood for value and for purity. "As good as gold" is used daily. But gold in its native state is never pure. It must always be tried by fire and made pure before it attains to the perfection of its highest state of value, and here is where the black of trial and tribulation is introduced; for gold can never reach its highest state except through the blackness of the purifying heat.

Thus it must be with the formation of our character, and with the living out of our lives. The gold is the perfection of character but the black shows its value and makes character perfect through suffering.

Also, the gold and black represent the contrast between sunshine and shadow. We would like life all sunshine, but our lives shine forth much better through the shadow and our characters are much stronger. The black makes the gold shine much brighter; so our bright days shine with more lustre through the gloom of disappointment and hardship.

Thus, black and gold combined stand for attainment, power and success. Our lives are just opening before us and whatever the future may hold, each life will have its black, for such is the fate of mankind; but we also know that if we welcome the black and recognize its developing force, it will be one of life's greatest blessings, and blending with the gold of happiness and prosperity, will make our lives fuller and richer than days of glare and gleam could possibly be.

Therefore, reverse the "Black and Gold!"

CLASS CHRONICLE

CHAPTER I.

Now the history of the Class of January of Four-and-twenty, of the High School of the City of Barberton, County of Summit, State of Ohio, is in this wise:

In the beginning, in the nineteen hundred and twentieth year, first month, and on the first-and-twentieth day of the month, there entered into this Land of Learning, eight-and-eighty seekers of knowledge. We came up from the Land of the Grade School, where we had toiled many long years in storing our minds with the honey of wisdom.

And it came to pass, as we entered this strange land, that we were received with wild welcomings and rejoicings by those whom we were to follow up the steep and treacherous paths of knowledge.

It so happened that we were also received by a wild band of savages, who were called "Sophomores" and who, because of their fierce taste for Freshman blood, did pounce upon us daily and cause us to suffer many things.

And as we dwelt in this strange land, we became as the inhabitants thereof, and our strangeness wore off.

Now it so happened that this Land of Learning was ruled over by a certain man of great wisdom and who was known as Professor R. E. Copper, and he spake unto us, saying:

"Go ye and gather in a body, and organize yourselves that ye may grow strong and not be overcome by thine enemies."

So was it done, even as he spake unto us, and we did choose to be our leaders: as President, Audrey Veasart; as Secretary and Treasurer, Dorothy Egbert; and as Honorary Member, Miss Esther Schultz.

But lo, after some few months, they did weary of their offices, and the class did choose new officers, which were, as President, Frank Coffman; as Secretary and Treasurer, Ruth Wiley; and as Honorary Member, Miss Haylor.

And it came to pass after some months, that our eyes were turned to graduation, but some began to make excuse.

One said, "I must needs go out into the world and make mine own way. Therefore I cannot graduate." Another said, "I am dull and cannot learn. Therefore I cannot go on with thee." And thus did our class decrease in number, until at the end of the year we numbered only three-and-fifty.

CLASS PROPHECY

It had been about ten years since I had seen any of my classmates or had heard from them. Imagine my delight and surprise when, in answer to an ad which I had put in the papers, an old school chum of mine came to see me. I had advertised for a good musician, capable of directing the Barberton Ladies' Band.

Paul Weatherford, an accomplished player of the saw and Jews harp, came to answer the advertisement. We talked of old times and our other classmates. He informed me that Delzie Motmiller was a coal doctor in some small western town, and was having very good business.

A few days later I received word that the band was required to play for a wedding at Hametown. I didn't know for whom we were to play, but we met at the Hametown Hotel at 7:00 o'clock, and about an hour later were called on the job, when I got the surprise of my life. Ethel Parker was to become the happy bride of Endi Tarnoczi, who was a successful dealer in hair brushes and mirrors. At last I knew why Endi had given Ethel such nice presents while they were at school. They were married by Reverend Vivian Cummings, and the bridesmaids were Ethel Shreiner and Carlotta Herwick. They had been bridesmaids many times, but never brides.

On returning to my headquarters I had to go through all the large towns. Passing through Snyderown, I noticed that all the people were going into a theater. A man stepped out from the crowd and asked me if I was the manager of the band. I told him I was and asked what he wanted. On looking more closely at him, I found out that he was Buel Snyder. He said he wanted my band to play outside of the theater so as to draw a crowd. He was promoting a fight featuring Frank Coffman, heavyweight champion.

The next day as I was going to buy some music a newsboy, whom I recognized as Clayton Carman, came up to me and yelled, "Extra! Extra!" Of course I bought a paper and glanced at the headlines. "LAWYER DEFENDS CRIMINAL—WINS BY HARD FIGHT!" I started to read it and found that Russell Watson, a wizard lawyer, had proved that Stephen Bell, accused of petticoat stealing, was innocent. I had always thought Russell would make a lawyer, but I hadn't known that Stephen had such "taking ways".

The following week Ruth Ries came to call on me. She looked so changed I hardly knew her. She told me that she had learned to play a saxophone and wanted to join my band. I was very glad to have

CLASS WILL

We, the Class of January, 1924, of the Central High School, city of Barberton, county of Summit and State of Ohio, perfect in health and being of sound mind and memory, realize we must pass into the great beyond. Knowing the inevitable Ferryman is eagerly awaiting so distinguished and exalted a class at the immortal Styx, we hereby proclaim, publish and declare this our last will and testament, hereby revoking and making null and void all previous wills and testaments by us made heretofore.

Desiring also to state that when setting our hands to this will we are not acting under the influence of Coca Cola, lollipops, Esquimo pies, fear, treachery, or the influence of malted milks or any person or party, Mr. Everett and the Ku Klux Klan included.

That is after our many debts and obligations are satisfactorily cancelled or paid, the remainder of our earthly possessions shall be disposed of in the manner following, to-wit:

ARTICLE I.

Item 1. We, the Seniors of Barberton High School, do hereby bequeath unto the students of B. H. S. our allegiance and loyalty to our beloved country, the United States of America.

Item 2. We bequeath unto the Senior B's all our dignity, our tact in getting along with the teachers and our best wishes for their success during the coming semester.

Item 3. We do bequeath unto the Juniors one acre of green meadowland and direct that the same be used as a pasture for those of verdant temperament when they become restless in school hours.

Item 4. We bequeath unto the Sophomores some of the superfluous knowledge of Geometry of some of our members.

Item 5. We bequeath unto the great horde of Freshmen our thanks for helping to make our school larger, hoping each one may be a Sophomore next year.

ARTICLE II.

Item 1. We bequeath unto the faculty our most humble and sincere thanks for the "zeros" and "U's" without which we could not have gotten through.

Item 2. We give and bequeath unto the Principal, L. L. Everett, a dozen or more private secretaries to look after the students who are absent or tardy, and to see that all excuses are written by the pupils' parents.

Item 3. We bequeath unto Mr. Woddell a private auditorium so his English students can dramatize plays such as "Hamlet" and "Macbeth" and make

CLASS SONG

1924 is here,
School days are ending,
All of our hope and fear
In victory blending.
Yet, as we pass, we grow
Sadder and sadder.
B. H. S. forever!
Barberton forever!

Great things we have done—
Science, mathematics;
Great victories we have won
Strong in athletics.
Brave in debate are we,
Wincing together.
B. H. S. forever!
Barberton forever!

Since we must leave our school,
Life's course to enter,
Memories will linger still
Of days gone forever.
Farewell, 1924,
Farewell forever!
Farewell, B. H. S.,
Farewell forever!

By RUTH RIES

CLASS POEM

Steal back across the years, O! classmates mine,
Into the hall of memory let us peer,
A thought filled with a host of happenings
Which through the years will all become more dear.

As we remember now those Freshman days,
They seem so dim and blurred, as in a haze.
That's all—but we became wise foolish Sophs,
And dealt as hard with all the new green Frosh
As they had dealt with us when we came in.
As Juniors great we thought the Sophs all "bunk",
And spoke in French, and had many a flunk.
But tamed we went into our fourth year wheeling,
A crowd of husky kids with such proud feeling.

And now the nearest, dearest of them all,
Our Senior year, which makes us feel so small.
Let's sally forth.
Leaders, instead of being led;
Poignantly sweet, yet painful in a way
All unafraid—for 'tis Commencement Day

FOOTBALL REVIEW
OF 1923OUR BASKETBALL SEASON

The past football season was a very successful one for Barberton High, with a record of five victories, one tie and two defeats.

The first game of the season was with Cuyahoga Falls at Barberton. They came here expecting to add another victory to their list, but Barberton finally won out by a twelve to six score.

The next game was with our old rival, Wadsworth, at Wadsworth. During the first half Wadsworth held our boys even. Barberton came back strong in the second half and sent Wadsworth down to a twelve to nothing defeat.

Next came Wooster, and with it our first defeat of the season. Wooster, as usual, came here with a heavy and experienced team. Barberton was able to score during the first three minutes of play, but after that Wooster held tight. The end of the game found Barberton on the bottom of a twenty-five to seven score.

The next game was with St. Vincents of Akron. During the first half Barberton was able to run up thirteen points on them. St. Vincents came back strong in the second half and evened up the score. The game ended in a thirteen to thirteen tie.

The second defeat of the season came at the hands of Kent Roosevelt at Kent the following week. Kent with a heavy team and a reputation of not having lost a game on their own field for two years, was able to score in about the first four minutes of play. After that Barberton held good until the last quarter, when several of our men had to be carried off the field on account of injuries, after which Kent was able to take the ball over for another touchdown. The game ended with Kent on top of a fourteen to nothing score.

The next game was with Akron East. East came to town expecting to gain a victory, but they were able to score only once. The ball was pushed over after the whistle had blown. The game ended with a twenty-seven to seven score in our favor. This game nearly ended in a fight when the East High coach refused to stay off the field.

Akron North came next. If ever Barberton wanted to win a game it was this one. They had sent Barberton down to defeat the year before in a game that Barberton should have won. The game was Basket ball call went out as soon as possible at the close of the foot ball season. Thirty-six candidates promptly answered this call. Because of the graduation of Capt. Yoder, the absence of "Burns" Krohn and the ineligibility of Frank Butler it looked as if a new team would have to be picked. Veterans Bill Immler and Art Wright in no way failed to make good as forwards. Mike Stewart and Ed Glancy having had some little experience as substitutes grabbed the center and standing guard berths. Dan Thomas with his cat-like speed pounced upon the last open position. For substitutes we had Rezin Sohner, Babe Watson and a grist of others.

We tried this combination against Cuyahoga Falls and gave them their usual drubbing to the tune of a 28-19 score.

The next week we invaded Wadsworth and there inspired by the flashy suits worn for the first time by the Barberton girls' team gave our opponents a good licking in basket ball and otherwise. (They now say the Barberton crew can lick their weight in wild cats.)

The next night it was up to the team to trim the cocky alumni which was done with neatness and dispatch. Score was 19-14.

Then came the trip to Canton, the first black eye of the season. One lone basket in an overtime period spoiled the party for Barberton High. We wish them no bad luck until we meet again.

The affair at Canton was forgotten by sweet revenge on Akron Central the very next night. We defeated both their teams by the nice healthy scores 16-8, 32-18.

This is just the beginning of this story. The best is yet to come.

SPIERS

played at Wooster Stadium, Akron, on a muddy field. The Barberton team, playing at its best, was never in danger. Barberton was held to one touchdown, which was made in the second quarter.

The last game of the season was with Orrville at Orrville. This was a walk-away for Barberton, the score being thirty-six to eight.

The students supported the team well and praise them for their good work.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council was organized at the beginning of this semester by Mr. Everett. The constitution of the organization pledges us to work towards improving the conditions and promoting the general welfare of Barberton High School, to serve also to stimulate a spirit of co-operation among the students. It gives the Council, legislative, executive and judicial powers. It also gives the teachers and students a chance to learn each others' opinions.

We have been able this semester to improve the conduct at noon, and choose a standard seal for the High School. The student body in most things has been willing to co-operate with the teachers and student council. When some criticism arose concerning the seating arrangement in the auditorium, it was discussed, and while it may be objectionable to some, it also is better in many ways than the old plan.

We have talked over many improvements, such as obtaining a paper box to be placed on the corner of Newell and Hopocan. We hope to carry out some of our plans next semester.

By EUTH MILLER

THE RECREATION CLUB

The purpose of the High School Recreation Club is to bring the students together in pleasure as well as in work.

The club has met with success so far and we sincerely hope that it will continue to grow.

The several parties and all of the meetings are attended by such large crowds that Miss Bausman has a difficult time keeping order. Everybody has so much to say to his neighbor that no one has any time whatever to listen to Miss Bausman, until the voice of our honorable President, Mike Stewart, booms out a memorable "Shut up!" Then all is quiet and serene. See what an influence an industrious president has over his wild flock.

Christmas was celebrated by the Recreation Club on Friday, December 28th. This date was so close to Christmas that some of the members didn't know the difference. All the holiday games were played at the beginning of the evening, after which came the big event. An orchestra made up of the members of the club played for the dancing. You may not think much of such an orchestra, but don't form too hasty an opinion.

My friends and fellow students, see what you are missing. Don't miss any more of these good times. Come and join the crowd.

By CATHERINE GEORGE

BETA DELTA SIGMA

During this last semester an event of importance took place in the High School. A few boys went to Mr. Wodden and expressed their desire to form a debating club. Of course anything which will improve the minds of the high school students is cherished by all teachers.

Mr. Woddell immediately took up this suggestion and before long an article appeared in the Magician dealing of the formation of a debating society. It has for its purpose the improvement of its members in public speaking and the use of parliamentary law.

Many of you may think this is an uninteresting club, but you would not think so if you could see our champion debaters. You might forget that you were at a debating club, but rather, think you were attending a boxing match. Many of you who have long and wieldy arms might use them to an advantage in this club, because this is one of the essentials of a debater. As we were rather late in getting started this semester we could not have as many debates and open discussions as we would have liked, but we intend to start bright and early next semester.

By JULIANA WEILER

THE MUSIC CLUB

The Barberton High School Music Club has made great progress this semester. It was organized only last year, but now it is rapidly becoming a Club that has an active part in our high school life.

The President of this Club is Georgette Fabre, the Treasurer is Stuart Kreider, and the Secretary, Harriet Courson. The Club meets on every other Monday night. At the first meeting of the month a business meeting is held, followed by a musical program. At the next meeting a social time, usually a party in the gymnasium, is enjoyed.

The aim of this Club is to promote better music in Barberton. This year they have succeeded very well. On October 23rd, Mr. Gregory Zwinitsky, assisted by Mr. Ladd Bender and Mrs. Vera Welker, gave a concert under the auspices of our Club. These artists are considered among the best, and in bringing them to Barberton the Club made a great step towards carrying out its aim.

The Club expects to make three or four exchanges with other schools, and this is a treat to look forward to next semester.

A FISH STORY

Englisman (eating a fish cake for the first time):
"I say, old chap, something has died in my biscuit"

THE Y. W. C. A.

We feel sure that this semester's Y. W. Club has been a great success in membership, in pleasure and in carrying out the Girl Reserve ideals.

Don't you remember our jolly "Gym" party and all the new songs we learned from the Y-W camps? And the inspiring talk on friendship given by Miss Beck?

The Recognition Service was carried out impressively under the dim light of candles and to the inspiring strains of the "Hymn of Lights".

Spirit, Service, Knowledge, Health and Myself were the subjects discussed at the "Do and Due" meeting.

Each girl will remember that her time spent on scrapbooks brought joy to the little sick children on Christmas. Then we spent an interesting meeting on the discussion of Women of the Bible.

Among the many things accomplished by our Club is the writing of the Girl Reserve Creed by a committee of girls, who based it on the ideals brought out at the different meetings.

Our meetings have helped us to see more clearly our duty to our community and our country, to understand the purpose of the Club in our high school, and to bring together the timid and the backward students, that they may enjoy the merry times within our big triangle.

By SUE COBB

LE CERCLE FRANCAISE

Although the "Cercle Francaise" has not been organized long, it is certain that it is a success. To anyone who doubts this the invitation to go to any meeting is extended.

It was a startling revelation to many French students to find out how little they really knew about conversational French. By the looks and actions of a few boys at the Club meetings, who "dig" out the little dictionaries every minute, they are certainly going to increase their French vocabulary. The good effects of the Club have not been noticed much as yet, but if the meetings continue to be as good as they have been, the members of the Club will soon be the stars in their French classes.

The "high lights" of the past meetings have been the initiations of the new members. The high and mighty Seniors escaped these dread services, consequently they had no pity on the prospective members when they were planning the next meeting.

The programs consisted of stories, news articles, recitations, etc., and were always enjoyed. Of

THE HI-Y CLUB

We began our new year with a complete change of faculty members. Mr. Laudenslager became our new leader and he has filled his position very satisfactorily. Other new faculty members were Mr. Mase, Mr. Niehaus and Mr. Everett. We have taken in several new members who are a betterment to the club, some being more faithful than the older members. We have had very helpful and interesting meetings throughout the year. We have had, for a considerable length of time, the use of the gymnasium after each meeting for recreation purposes. We are also planning for a basketball team, the same as last year.

Mr. Baker is now a faculty member and we, as a club, are glad to have him with us.

During the latter year the outside occurrences in connection with Hi-Y work were several Tri-Square meetings, and most important, the State Hi-Y meeting recently held at Zanesville, Ohio.

Thus, we believe we have had a very successful year; our club has not only been enlarged, but also that which is more to be considered, the members surely have been bettered. Let us keep up the standards of the club, "CLEAN SCHOLARSHIP, CLEAN SPEECH, CLEAN LIVING and CLEAN ATHLETICS".

THE SCIENCE CLUB

It is quite evident that the Science Club has made greater progress this year than in any other year of its history. It has been especially successful in the number of new members which it has gained, for there are now fifty-three. Then, too, the programs have been a great success and the members have learned many new and useful things. But best of all have been the social hours after the business meetings, when refreshments were served and when we went down to the "gym" to have a good time.

The following are some of the interesting topics which were discussed during the year: Paints, Well Drilling, Corals, Animals, The Steam Engine, Oddities of Nature, The Use of Radio, The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes, Reptiles, Bees, The Transformer, Broadcasting Pictures by Radio, and Rubber Chemistry.

In this last semester three members of the club have each made an invention. Vernon Stanley has made a gas engine, Dale Wertz a steam engine, and Byron Stroh has made an ellipsograph.

THE GLEE CLUBS AND SPECIAL CHORUS

The Glee Clubs and Special Chorus have worked very hard this semester and have accomplished a great deal. The boys and girls Glee Clubs studied different selections, separately at first, but later combined to study the "Gypsy Rover" which was presented very successfully to the public.

The Special Chorus has studied different selections, and is now studying "Queen Esther", which will be presented in the near future.

The students of the Glee Club and Special Chorus are deserving of a great deal of credit, and wish to thank the student body for their hearty support and co-operation.

THE ORCHESTRA

B. H. S. now has the largest orchestra in its history. The membership is at the present thirty-two. The variety of instruments is: Nineteen violins, one saxophone, two flutes, one drum, five cornets, two clarinets, one bass horn, and the piano.

Our success this year has been due to the good spirit which has prevailed among the members of the orchestra, and the excellent leadership of Professor Snyder.

The Orchestra has played in Chapel, between acts for "The Gypsy Rover" and will play for the Senior Class Play, Baccalaureate and Commencement.

For the first time the Orchestra has organized. The officers are: President, Stewart Kreider; Secretary and Treasurer, Claude Titley. This is something new for the Orchestra in B. H. S., and it hopes to do many things in the future.

THE BAND

The B. H. S. band practiced faithfully and played for all home games of football. They accompanied the team to Wadsworth.

Our band, numbering about fifteen members, is much too small for a school of this size. Mr. Snyder would like to make it the size and quality of the Fostoria band that won the National prize last year. Help support it.

A LETTER

To The Magician:

Many people think when a student or group of students finish their high school career they sever all relations, forget all friends and associations made there. This, however, is far from being true, because most of the Alumni, although they may be scattered far, still keep in contact in some way with the activities of their Alma Mater. They are interested in every change or new addition to the school.

In reading the recent editions of the Magician, we notice various new things. One of the most remarkable is the Student Council, composed of representatives from the various classes and organizations. Allow us to congratulate the school on this step toward better school spirit. There is no reason, I believe, why this can't be as successful in B. H. S. as it has been in other schools if the council members will perform their duties conscientiously, and we all feel confident that they will. Others are the Debating and French Clubs. Heretofore these activities have been neglected and not given the stress that perhaps they should have had; this was true to a large extent because of the indifference of the student body toward these clubs, but I do not think that this indifference is present now. A group of high school students can do almost anything if they just use the energy that they have in a united force toward a common end.

We are also interested in your athletics, trying to get the results of the games as soon as possible after the contest is over. With basketball season opening, we hope that it will be the most successful season in the history of the Brown and White, not only in score but in good sportsmanship and spirit, and we are with you to the end—win or lose.

The freshies do not need to think that they have a complete claim on "greenness and dumbness" because they could not be any more ignorant than some of the rest of us who are also freshmen, but in a different phase of education.

Now for a little advice. It was handed to us in a different way so we must pass it on. To all those who are just entering upon the four greatest years of their lives and also to those who are farther advanced, we urge you to make the best of it; work hard, because in hard work there is a satisfaction which can in no other way be acquired; and when it

CHAPTER II.

Now it came to pass, at the beginning of the second year, that a new band of people did come up from the surrounding country and we, the Class of January of Four-and-twenty, in our new dignity, did remember our first days in this Land of Learning, and as the Sophomores of our days had done unto us, even so did we unto these new Freshman, and did show no mercy unto them until they were much bruised and full of sorrow.

And we did again gather together to organize ourselves and did choose as President, Ethel Parker; as Secretary and Treasurer, Harry Berleczy; and as Honorary Member, Mr. McNeil.

Now in the month of October, it was decided that a parade should be held, that we might celebrate Hallowe'en and which should take place on the night of the first-and-thirtieth of the month of October. Now the mighty and haughty Seniors made great plans for this great event and spent much time in secret work. So we, the Class of Four-and-Twenty, did make also great plans, and all were gay and merry. But alas, in the afternoon of the first-and-thirtieth of the month of October, all our plans did go up in smoke. Great was our grief and sorrow, for it had been so ordained that our float be burned, and all our bright hopes did lay in charred ruin. Nevertheless, we were soon at work and did enter into the festivities, and were once more merry and happy, and the courage of the class was again made strong.

And it so happened that, as the class did sojourn through this land, behold, more members did leave and much grief and sorrow did prevail as we passed on without them. And the whole number of the class at the end of the second year was but five-and-thirty.

CHAPTER III.

Now it so happened at the beginning of the third year, that we decided we should have some class colors. And so we did assemble together, and after much discussion did decide that we should have cardinal and tan.

And it came to pass, that we also wished for a class ring, and a man did come and show us many fine samples of jewelry; and at last after much thought and consideration, we did choose a certain ring, and we were well content.

And, behold, we did now again assemble to choose new leaders, for our officers had governed us for a twelve-month. And we did choose for our Presiher and we had a nice chat. She told me that Dora Cox had married Jerome Fogle, and that they were very wealthy because Jerome was a bootlegger. She also told me that Margaret Worthen was now a famous model in Paris, posing for Harry Antles, who was a great artist.

I received a long distance telephone message that my band was wanted to parade in the election campaign for Ralph Zeisig, who was running for sheriff of Doylestown. When we arrived at Doylestown I learned that Evelyn Davis was the Editor-in-chief of the Star, a scandal paper, and that Alice Ries and Ruth Wiley were her chief reporters.

Coming through Barberton, I saw a blind man playing a fiddle and singing "School Days". He looked familiar so I asked him his name. He said he was Mike Sproch. I told him who I was and inquired about his blindness. He told me that he wasn't blind, but was making good money. I asked whether he had heard from any of our school-mates, and he said that Marie Wingerter and James Genet were running the St. Vitus Dancing academy in the Barber on Opera House.

One day a salesman came to the door. He handed me a card, on which was written "Harry Berleczyk, of the Noiseless Soup Spoon Co." He informed me that in his travels he had met Lois Samples, who was running a beauty parlor at Johnson's Corners. He also said that Dorothy Egbert was running a nursery on Bolivar Road.

After he had gone I pondered over my classmates. I had seen or heard of them all, and I wished that I was again in school instead of being manager of a band and married to a poor Chiropractor.

In this way you will be able, when you become an unlucky alumnus, to look back upon your high school career with joy and pride. Remember as some one has said, "No road is too rough--no hill too steep--no fence too high--if we have the proper ideal and perseverance".

It is up to each one of us.

course, as everything was said in French, the members had to keep their minds alert. But of course everyone sees the value of using his wits, especially if he uses them only once every two weeks at a meeting of the French Club.

There are, of course, many other clubs in High School, but this is the youngest and even though that is true, it seems as if it would soon outstrip the others in the race for membership and popularity.

This year the Club started with seven Senior A members. It now has twenty-seven members after only a few meetings. If that doesn't testify to the success of the new club, what will?

The club has had a successful year under the management of the president and those who have helped him, and it is hoped that the club be just as successful next year.

At the meeting which was held December 10th a new committee was appointed, consisting of Ellis Seiberling, Mr. Everett, Mr. Laudenslager, Ruth Smith and Virginia Royston, to decide what members of the club were to receive badges.

CURRENT HISTORY

Mr. Woddell: "What caused the Johnstown flood?"
Dora Cox: "The Rasin' River."

Mrs. Laudenslager: "Ever had any operatic experience?"

Harry Berleczyk: "Yes, I played the nut in Ben Bolt."

Poli: (badly beaten in election) "Did you really vote for me, old timer?"

Titan: (reassuringly) "Yes, I was the one."

has ever watched his alma mater with interest, and probably a little yearning. His interest in B. H. S. is characteristic of every alumnus who went to high school and learned to like it. May we never forget the alumni as they continually pass out from our school. The present Senior A class will ever watch the activities in B. H. S. after they have passed into the alumni class and this is an appeal to regard them still as members of the school, even though they pass on into college.

dent, Evellyn Davis; for Secretary, Ethel Shreiner; for Treasurer, Margaret Worthen; and for Honorary member, Miss Marguerite Cline.

And lo, as the Class went on its way, there did two more members leave the fold and were lost, and the whole number of the Class at the end of the third year was three-and-thirty.

CHAPTER IV.

Now this, the fourth year in the history of this great and wonderful Class of January of Four-and-Twenty, has been one of much hard labor, and we have rested little by the wayside; for we have been making much preparation for our departure from this great Land of Learning.

And behold, as the springtime did follow the winter, we did remember the cold days which had been, and wished that we had had warm sweaters, and it came to pass, that we did choose to have sweaters for the wintry days to come, and we did choose those sweaters which the members wear with much pride.

And it so happened that we were dissatisfied with our colors and did choose to change them. And lo, we did make them black and gold.

And lo, a great cry went up from the Class of June of Three-and-Twenty, beseeching us to spread before them a feast, for there was a great famine in their class and we did have compassion on them, promising to prepare a great feast for them. But alas, there was no money, and behold the Class of January of Four-and-Twenty did hold a great Carnival and much people did come and did feast and make merry. And at last on the third-and-twentieth day of the month of May of the year of three-and-twenty, with much rejoicing and song, the Class of June of Three-and-Twenty did feast and forget all sorrow and care.

But alas, not all was happiness, for a great shadow did come over this land, and all was sorrow and grief, for our beloved Principal, Mr. Copper, had passed from us to that land beyond. This great and noble man was then succeeded by a wise and good man, who is called Mr. Everett. But still the shadow did not lift, for we lost another friend, another great and noble man, for Mr. McNeil had also passed to that land beyond. And there was great sorrow in the land.

And it so happened that our President had much work to do and was overburdened, and beseeched us to lift the burden from her. And therefore we did elect new leaders, who were, President, Ethel Parker; Secretary and Treasurer, Clayton Carmen; and

Professor Everett did appoint as our Honorary Member, Mrs. Laudenslager.

Then it came to pass that the members of the Class began to write great thoughts, such as no one had ever heard or thought of, and which we did call Chapel Speeches, that the people might come and perceive our brilliance.

And it came to pass that a certain fair member of the Class did have the talent of making words rhyme, and she was beseeched by the Class to write for us some words, that we might sing and fill the land with song and rejoicing. And lo, it was done, and we did sing with much vigor.

But a great cry did go up from the Class: "Behold! if we are to leave a Memorial in this Land of Learning, there is much need of many dollars."

And so, at this time, the Class did choose to present to the people a wonderful play, wherein each one should act what he was not; and we did choose "The Charm School". And behold, we did receive much praise and many dollars.

And it came to pass, that on the two-and-twentieth day of the first month of the year of Four-and-twenty, that the Class of June of Four-and-Twenty did spread before us a great feast, and we did make merry and did eat of the good things of the land.

And the whole number, at the end of this fourth year, is nine-and-twenty, which are these:

Harry Glenn, the youngest son of the House of Antles.

Stephen Leonard, of the House of Bell.

Harry Stephen, eldest son of Stephen of the House of Berleczy, whose father is a steamship agent.

James Clayton, whose surname is Carman.

Dora Mae, the only daughter of the House of Cox, whose father is a tiller of the soil.

Frank Daniel, of the House of Coffman.

Vivian Rose, eldest daughter of William, of the House of Cummings.

Evellyn Winifred, second daughter of George, of the House of Davis, a man of high standing.

Jerome Alfred, youngest son of the House of Fogle.

James Walter, fifth son of the House of Genet.

Carlotta Elizabeth, fourth daughter of John, of the House of Herwick, who is our Valedictorian.

Paul, whose surname is Lieb.

Anna Dorothy, of the House of Matick.

Delzie Lyle, whose surname is Motmiller.

Ethel May, eldest daughter of Charles, of the House of Parker.

Alice Alberta, eldest daughter of the House of Ries.

Lois Doll, of the House of Samples.

Ethel Frances, eldest daughter of the House of Shreiner.

Buel T., only son of the House of Snyder.

Michael, only son of the House of Spruch, whose father is a keeper of good things to eat.

Endi, of the House of Tarnoczi.

Russell Lawrence, second son of the House of Watson, whose father makes clothes for men.

Paul Robert, whose surname is Weatherford.

Ruth Mae, youngest daughter of Stanley, of the House of Wiley.

Marie Evellyn, of the House of Wingerter.

Margaret Eloise, only daughter of Charles, of the House of Worthen, who is our Salutarian.

Ralph Edwin, only son of the House of Zeisig.

Dorothy Elizabeth, of the House of Egbert, who now speaketh these words unto you.

So it has come to pass that of the eight-and-eighty who entered this land, only nine-and-twenty will depart, for verily I say unto you, that broad and wide is the way which leadeth to the High School, but narrow is the way which leadeth to graduation, and few there be who find it.

Four years hath the Class of January of Four-and-Twenty sojourned in this Land and gained much wisdom. Now, I say unto you, we must depart and go into strange lands.

And now may the blessings that ever attend the noble and true, follow and abide with us, each and all, now and forevermore. Amen.

JOKES

He: "I'm going to kiss you, honey."

She: "Do you want me to cry for help?"

He: "No, thank you, dear—I don't need any!"

"Hank" C.: "My brother sure was a dumb guy."

Harry A.: "How's that?"

"Hank": "Why, they had to burn the school house down to get him out of the first grade."

Frank Coffman: "Well, I guess I'll get a little more sleep."

Carlotta Herwick: "What! Not going back to bed?"

Frank: "No, to English class."

He: "My girl reminds me of washday."

She: "How's that?"

He: "Nothing to her but clothes, pins, and a heavy line."
